Resources of our Country.

General Banks, recently in a speech upon the appropriation of $100,000 for the World's Exposition at Paris, told some facts about the power and resources of our country truly astonishing, and such as make every true American heart thrill with pride. The Valley of the Mississippi alone is capable of supporting 500 to 1,000 millions of people and still not be populated so thickly as England now is. Illinois has asked for every nearly as much ground at the Exposition as is allotted to an entire nation by the European Commissions, whose principal knowledge of us is probably derived from the London Times. The space allotted for the United States is 30,000 square feet, making us the 8th on the list of nations in point of space assigned. 20,000 will be used for passage ways, and the remaining 10,000 for arranging the articles upon. The articles are divided into ten general groups or classes; these ten classes are divided again and again into subdivisions, so that each article will be systematically arranged amongst its own kind. Everything the mind of man can devise for exhibition will have its appropriate place in one of the sub-divisions. Mining, agriculture, manufactures, photography, wood-engraving, and all arts will be amply represented. The United States will stand first—will take the lead in six or seven of the ten different classes. What a sermon is this upon the energy and talent developed by free government.—American Journal.

[illegible] G. S. L. City, May 15th, 1866.

The Daily Union Vedette.

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 19, 1866.

The Growth of States.

There is no more interesting study for a student of politics and economy, no more instructive, than the phenomena presented to the world in the rapid growth of the interior States of the Republic. Who does not pause in wonder, not unmixed with a certain pardonable pride, when he remembers the insignificant proportions of the American Nation, at the period of the Revolution, and beholds the sublime splendors of the present era in our history.

The Fathers of the Republic might well be pardoned if the future greatness of their native land, even in their most visionary moments, never dawned upon their imaginations. What one of the great minds would have ventured to prophesy its present glory? What fancy to have then foreseen the stature so soon to be attained by the giant at whose baptism they had stood sponsors? Could the reality have been foreseen, as we now behold it, imagination's self would have stood dazzled and confused, deeming the vision only a bright, but unreal hallucination.

Indeed, it seems more the work of enchantment than a sober fact. The experience of no other nation, of ancient or modern times, presents a parallel. Unquestionably the grand, all-compelling reason for such wondrous prosperity and unexampled growth, is found in the liberal nature of our institutions. Each individual citizen is free to employ, as best it pleases him, the talents wherewith he is endowed by nature—therein lies the secret of our national success—the result is America as she stands before the world to-day.

It cannot be claimed that the phenomenon is owing to any extraordinary superiority of soil or climate, for the entire portion of the continent included between the limits of the temperate zones, is fully equal to our country in these respects, and, in many parts, superior. Something is doubtless due to capabilities of race, but the main reason is as we have stated. While other lands, not less favored by nature, are still untrod by human foot, save that of the native savage or daring hunter, our domain has been subdued to civilization, the wilderness sub-divided into Territories, and Territories become powerful and prosperous States, all within the memory of living men.

And still this wonderful growth goes on around us. The ever-increasing tide of humanity sweeps resistlessly onward, spreads over all the land like a vast inundation, unrepressed, irrepressible. Nothing stays its progress. Wars, which desolate or destroy other nations, only seem to give a greater impetus and additional volume to the mighty stream. Deserts vainly stretch their barren sands and frozen mountains lift their frowning barriers. Onward it sweeps—irresistibly onward—like successive waves of the ocean before a strong and steady wind. There is something in all this of sublime grandeur which inspires us with a feeling akin to awe—it is the march of destiny.

It seems but the other day when a virgin wilderness stretched between the Father of Waters and the Pacific ocean—now the shields of a youthful sisterhood, beautiful but strong, are locked over all the land, and on them we see inscribed the names of California, Oregon, Minnesota, Nevada, Colorado, Idaho, Montana and Utah. Who can look upon this majestic spectacle, if a foreigner, with less than wonder, if an American, with aught but noble pride. Let us thank God for this goodly inheritance and never cease to remember the dignity which belongs to the title of—an American Citizen.

From California.

[From the Enterprise.]

San Francisco, May 12.

Mrs. DeWolf was tried in the Police Court to-day for appearing in public in male attire. She appeared in Court attired in the same dress in which she was arrested in company with her husband. He made a long speech in her behalf, contending that she had a right to dress as she pleased, and that her style of apparel was more sensible than that commonly worn by ladies. He contended that she was about inaugurating a reform, and in an earnest speech discussed the subject of woman's dress in its social, moral and sanitary bearings. The Court took the matter under advisement, remarking that the only question at issue was as to whether the style adopted by defendant was calculated to create a disturbance. The case excites considerable interest.

The sale of seats for Forrest's first appearance was continued to-day. Nearly all of the dress circle and parquette [illegible] ranging from eight dollars to four bits.

A fire yesterday in the cellar occupied by Abraham Johnson, on Sacramento street, damaged the premises $1,000. Insured for $1,500.

[illegible] cabinet manufacturing establishment, on Howard street, between Fifth and Sixth, was damaged by fire yesterday to the extent of $1,000. Insured for $2,000.

A fire occurred yesterday morning in a house in Hayes' Valley occupied by Mrs. Kelly, who commenced to move out, and then called for help. Engineer [illegible] heard the ladies' cries, broke open the door with an ax, which [illegible] him, and he was given in charge of the police.

Arrivals from Del Norte, from Crescent City, on the 9th, have 30 passengers and $2,000 in specie. [illegible] military collector is abolished, and the military bill, signed by the Governor, as the one which passed both houses and consequently becomes a law.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY UNION VEDETTE.]

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

Washington, May 17.

[illegible] a bill to prohibit [illegible] transportation of nitro-glycerine on passenger vessels or railroads. Also a bill granting land in aid of the construction of the railroad from Central Pacific, in California, to Portland, Oregon.

A diplomatic appropriation bill was taken up, discussed, amended and passed.

The West Point Academy bill was amended so as to allow the few remaining vacancies to be filled from the South, passed.

Sherman wished the understanding about founding the bill.

Fessenden expressed himself opposed to the bill.

Wade submitted amendments to the Reconstruction Committee's report. Adjourned.

Chicago, May 18.

The Senate on Tuesday rejected Chandler's resolution, empowering the Secretary of War with the concurrence of the Secretary of the Treasury and Navy to adopt and enforce sanitary regulations against the cholera, yeas 17, nays 19. The majority regarding it as directed for an affront towards the President, and as unwarranted by the supercedure of the State authority in the premises. The Senate then amended the House resolution, substituting the Secretary of the Treasury for the President, and directing the former to render all necessary aid to the State or municipal authorities in enforcement of quarantine.

Washington, May 18.

The Senate will probably take up the Constitutional Amendment, on Monday, and Sherman's loan bill will have to lay over another week.

HOUSE.

Washington, May 17.

Kasson, from Committee on coinage, weights and measures, reported a bill to authorize the use of the metric system. The Secretary of the Treasury is to furnish each State one set of standard weights and measures; also to authorize the use in post offices of weights of denomination grammes, and to authorize the President to appoint a special commissioner to facilitate the adopt on of uniform coinage of all countries, bill passed.

Jencks from Select Committee on the bankrupt law, reported a new bankrupt bill, modified to meet the objections heretofore made.

The House resumed consideration of the tax bill. The paragraph in regard to miners gave rise to considerable debate. Messrs. Stevens, Kelly, McRuer, Bidwell and Hooper taking ground against the tax, and Morrill, Blaine and Schenck defending it; finally the paragraph was struck out.

The Speaker laid before the House a message from the President, transmitting a communication from the Secretary of War and a letter from Gen. Grant in regard to the legislation for the army, all referred to the Military Committee.

Washington, May 18.

The diplomatic appropriation bill contains the Senate amendment, which the House will probably concur in, creating a second Assistant Secretary of State, and Chief Clerk Hunter will probably be named for that position.

House is working industriously on the tax bill, and will probably not get through before the end of next week.

GENERAL NEWS.

New York, May 17.

Specials to the evening papers say the President's Message, to-day, enclosing Grant's letter asks for the immediate passage of a bill to increase the regular army, the Lieut. General assigning as a reason for this request the fact that more troops were needed on the frontier and at the South; he also expresses the opinion that the troops cannot be withdrawn from the South with safety, for some time to come.

The House Committee on the Freedmen's Bureau have agreed to report a resolution for the appointment of a Joint Committee of Congress, to investigate the working of the Freedmen's Bureau system, to travel through the Southern States, take testimony and report to Congress.

Chicago, May 18.

The metric system of weights and measures adopted by the House yesterday, is merely permissive, Kasson stating, that the committee did not feel authorized to make a law compulsory, but desired to legalize a new system of leaving trades to adopt it upon choice.

The new five cent coinage will be according to the metric system, each piece weighing five grammes, so that three pieces will weigh a half ounce of avordupois, equal in weight to a single letter.

Gen. Fremont has purchased the South West Branch of the Missouri Pacific Railroad from St. Louis to Rolla, with the right of way to Springfield, paying the State, which sold the franchise under foreclosure of mortgage $1,300,000; four or five millions will be required to complete the road to Springfield, and Fremont's Company estimate it will then be worth twelve millions. The new company are obliged to finish the road in four years.

New York, May 18.

Fenian Stephens, who prefers the title of chief organizer to that of Head Centre, raised some $3,000 by the Jones and Wood demonstration the other day, and will start shortly for a tour through the principal cities on a financial errand. He refuses to publish the results of the investigation of O'Mahoney, the Treasurer. The Fenian Senate and Roberts ignore Stephens' authority and are mustering for military demonstration.

The examination of the Merchants' National Bank shows $42,000 paid Oscar King and other third parties for distribution among disbursing officers who kept public funds in the bank. It is expected that the bank assets, not counting personal liabilities of stockholders, will pay three per cent. Leonard Hayes, President of the Bank, promised $5,000 in aid of one of the city churches, on condition that the trustees kept deposits in the bank. The church had $10,000 so deposited.

Foreign News.

New York, May 17.

The Tribune's Florence (Italy) correspondent of the 30th of April opens his letter [illegible] Fortnight we shall be involved in war. The Spanish fleet of [illegible] Gremona is being fortified in haste, fleet concentrated, and all soldiers on furlough recalled, even the reserve of 1834, '35 and '36. All the official papers fire the Italian heart. General La Marmora, Pettinago and Petti are assembled in military council. Everybody supposes [illegible] they try to shirk the [illegible] Austrian army. [illegible] Napoleon is the great [illegible] Bismarck and now pushes La Marmora, so that Austria cannot avoid war."

New York, May 17.

By steamer Java [illegible] Commons, on May 8d, Gladstone [illegible] the annual financial [illegible] ensuing year [illegible] £66,225,000 and persons at £61,818,000, leaving a surplus of £1,356,000. Gladstone, in referring to the American debt, said: I must confess that I think the future of America, as far as finance is concerned, will not be attended with any embarassment. I do not believe the debt will constitute any difficulty for the American people. In moderate time it would be brought within very small limits, and may within the time of persons now living be effected, although at this moment America is in a tax from war, and the amount of revenue of the United States is not less, I apprehend, than eighty millions of British money, the largest sum ever raised in any country for the purposes of a central government.

The Venice correspondent of the Paris Patrie says that Austria is placing herself in a state of complete defense. Troops are arriving from all points, and without neglecting Pershia and Legnano, the military authorities are storing more especially in the fortresses of Verona and Mantua. The artillery of Verona consists of more than five hundred cannon in battery, besides a share of guns at all the main points between Verona and Mantua. The Austrians have erected redoubts and entrenchments, which will be strongly filled, quadrilateral, and is therefore an immense entrenched camp, where all the advantages will be on the side of defense.

Napoleon has made an exposition of the position of France towards Italy and the contending German powers, to the French Legislature through M. Rouhr, Minister of State. It is terse and decisive, declaring a pacific policy, honest neutrality, and entire freedom of action for the empire. Italy, the Emperor says, is free to choose her own course, but, alike Austria, must take on herself alone all the perils and risks of war.

New York, May 17.

Letters from Oajaca confirm the reports of the Republicans, under Dias, occupying Puina, but say that he remained only three days, leaving on the approach of the Austrians.

The Mexico Estaffe says that while Dias was thus operating in Oajaca, Alvarez attacked Acapulco and was decidedly repulsed.

The Estaffe states as bad news that the Imperialist General Losaelo had been obliged to abandon his campaign in Sinola for want of pecuniary means.

New York, May 17.

Jamaica advices of the 7th say that letters from England indicate that Sir Henry Storks will be confirmed as Governor of Jamaica. He is at St. Thomas, in bad health, completely prostrate, both in mind and body.

Col. Hobbs, who commanded the forces sent against the blacks during the late disturbances, had become insane, and being put on a steamer en route for home, jumped overboard, and was drowned.

[From the Reese River Reveille.]

The Enlarged Boundaries of Nevada

It is now announced that the bill enlarging the State of Nevada has passed both houses of Congress, and unless vetoed, of which there is little danger, will become a law. The telegraph does not tell the lines that are established as the new boundaries, but the increase is forty-four thousand square miles, and this increase corresponds precisely with the area of the territory lying between the thirty-seventh meridian and the late eastern line of Nevada, and the country between the thirty-seventh meridian, extending to the river Colorado, and following the river to the thirty-fifth parallel at Fort Mohave, and then the California line to the State of Nevada. The part taken from Utah consists of one degree of longitude through five degrees of latitude, equal to about eighteen thousand two hundred square miles.—That taken from Arizona may be comprised in two bodies, one a right-angled triangular body, of which the California line is the hypothenuse, and contains about twenty-two thousand square miles; the other body is nearly rectangular, lying between the bend of the Colorado and the thirty-seventh parallel, and comprises nearly three thousand eight hundred square miles, or nearly double what it was formerly. The degree on the east will give us some exceedingly good country, including the head of the Humboldt river and the many fine valleys about it, the Deep Creek country, a part of the Dixie land of the Mormons, and a part of the great Cañon of the Colorado, with the head of navigation on that stream. It settles the question of Pahranagat beyond a doubt, as now belonging to Nevada. Along the Colorado it gives us several important points, the chief of which are the mining sections about El Dorado Cañon, and the head of navigation at Callsville, about sixty miles above. There are several other mining districts included in the Arizona addition, as the Potosi, Armagosa and others along the California line. A great deal of it is barren, desert country, but is undoubtedly rich in minerals, and when penetrated by the railroad will prove of immense wealth. The country is favorable to the construction of a railroad crossing by any of the numerous passes to the east and southeast of the Tulare lakes, and through all the country will be found resources for the construction of the road and the support of it when completed. * * * *

A SINGULAR WELCOME.—It is rather severe upon the ladies who came out with Mercer, in the hope of bettering their condition, to taunt them with their helplessness, and yet this is no less than what they have received from a number of writers for the press, who seem to have entirely misunderstood the character of the passengers by the Continental. The best consolation offered them, that we have seen, was a half column of paternal advice in the Bulletin, indicating the plan to be pursued in looking for situations as cooks and house servants. How would you like your sister or your daughter, Mr. Items, who were brought up to better things, to toil all day at the severest of drudgery by the side of Chinamen and Kanakas? Some of these young women are highly cultivated, and would be valuable acquisitions in many a store or milliner's shop. The trades to which they might turn their attention with profit to their employers are numerous, and we dare say they will find little difficulty in obtaining places. At any rate it is cruel and unmanly to throw obstacles in their way.—Bee.

BY reference to our dispatches it will be seen that Gen. Grant intends to keep a large force on the Plains. The Lieut. General evidently knows what he is about.

IT is said that four thousand wigs have been ordered for Canada use, in consequence of the hair frightened from heads by the Fenian scare.

JENNY Lind Goldschmidt is at Cannes, [illegible] greatly improved. The local papers announce a concert to be given by her for the benefit of the Hospital.

THE Bachelor's Club of Denver City, Colorado, has been disbanded. Thirty-two of the members were captured almost at the same time, by women, and taken away and married.

IN another column will be found the new advertisement of Messrs. Dell, Cranna & Co., wholesale dealers in coal oil, lamps, &c., San Francisco. We take pleasure in saying that the above is one of the most reliable and enterprising houses in California, and our merchants cannot do better than to patronize them.

WEATHER delightful and times dull, expresses the situation of affairs in our Saintly City, at the present time. Nearly all the floating population has gone to the Montana, Stockton or Pahranagat Mines, and the immigration has not yet struck this point; until it comes we may expect a continuation of the present situation.

NEW ORLEANS is fast becoming Yankeefied. A recent letter from that city says that men from the North and West in large numbers, many of them lately [illegible] officers, lieutenants and privates in the national army, have settled there and entered into business of all kinds, and under their energy, perseverance and industry, the old creole [illegible] is fast losing its former French and Spanish characteristics.

BUSINESS men and others are informed that the Daily and Weekly VEDETTE has a large and rapidly increasing circulation, North, East and West, and offers superior inducements to the advertising public. To western men it presents all the [illegible] of a live newspaper, containing [illegible] news from the East and West, and carefully selected items of interest from all the surrounding States and Territories. The VEDETTE has already acquired a national reputation, and no western journal is more eagerly sought [illegible] of sufficient importance to induce business men to largely advertise through its columns.

WHAT DECIDES GOLD COINS.—The San Francisco Era, speaking of a peck of gold on exhibition at a broker's office, says:

A crowd of people are steadily engaged from day to day in gazing at a quarter of a bushel or thereabouts of gold dust in a broker's window on Montgomery street. It is nice to look at. It is the embodiment of all the luxuries of this sinful world, more especially of wine, women, fast horses and turtle soup. But, entranced beholder, did you think how many weary shovelsful of dirt is required to get at that treasure?—how many aching backs and weak knees at night, when the delver returned from his toil to his rough cabin, to cook his supper, cut his wood and bring water? That peck of dust may have indirectly manufactured more than one rheumatic back from standing all day in the ground sluice, saturated with ice cold water, or a crippled limb from a caving bank. A cotemporary informs our unemployed young men that there is plenty more such dust in the hills of California, and advises them to form companies and rush to the mines in search thereof, rather than go to Montana or New Granada. Well, an inexperienced young man might strike it rich. He might be struck by lightning, too. He might also be a distant relative of the Jennings family, for whom such an immense fortune is now waiting in England.

TO KEEP EGGS.—The reason eggs decay is that the atmosphere penetrates the pores of the shell, evaporates the watery portions inside and decay begins. A remedy is to immerse the eggs for a few seconds in boiling water. It is said that a dozen fresh eggs in a basket can be dipped at once into a tub of boiling water. They are to be held in the water long enough to count 20 at a fast rate. The heat of the water coagulates the surface of the albumen immediately next the egg-shell, thus forming an air-tight coating, which prevents evaporation and decay.

The longest name a parent ever inflicted upon a child in this country belongs to a married lady in Boston. She generally uses the initial "A," but her name is Alderaronisphocofornia.

One of the best things of the season is that of Bishop Simpson, who has declared in favor of paying the rebel war debt when it becomes due, viz: after the independence of the Confederate States shall have been secured.
